But don't just take our word for it, check our website for the many testimonials from our satisfied customers, or contact us directly to experience the Eclipse Travel difference.

South. America

From Patagonia to Peru, and the Andes to the Amazon, South America constantly amazes.

Discover the magical continent that is South America and immerse yourself in this truly inspiring destination.

South America, spanning over 17,000,000 square-kilometres, has something to offer every traveller. Stretching from the Caribbean to Patagonia, the variety of culture, climate and landscape is sure to amaze even the most experienced traveller.

The range of activities on offer in South America is astounding with something for every taste whether it be hiking through Torres del Paine in Patagonia, wildlife watching in the Amazon or relaxing on a yacht in the Galápagos Islands.

Alternatively, if you love the buzz of the city then maybe a tour of Buenos Aires followed by an evening tango show or a visit to the breathtaking Corcovado 'Christ the Redeemer' statue in beautiful Rio de Janeiro.

South America also has some hidden gems such as the Salt Flats in Bolivia, Angel Falls in Venezuela and the Pantanal in Brazil to name a few.

All of these destinations and more are out there awaiting your arrival, so what are you waiting for?

Torres del Paine (Towers of Paine) stand formidably above the national park. The postcard-esque mountains are what most people come here for but there is so much more to Patagonia with its abundant wildlife, flora and fauna.

Experience Stunning South America

South America was made for travel and adventure. Its sights and sounds offer something for everyone.

Learn about ancient cultures, wars and revolutions whilst discovering steamy rainforests, tropical beaches, inspiring desert landscapes and cosmopolitan cities. Witness unique wildlife while trekking stunning trails through the Andes and Patagonia. Sample delicious cuisine while watching football with the world's most passionate fans. Or simply let yourself go, dancing the night away to Salsa and Samba.

WHEN TO VISIT

The South American continent covers a huge area and weather conditions differ greatly depending on which destinations you plan to visit.

April to October is typically the best time to visit the Andes regions of Ecuador, Peru and Bolivia as they are generally the driest months. The wet season for Peru, Ecuador, Bolivia, Brazil and Northern Argentina falls over the summer months between November and March and can offer more erratic weather conditions. The iconic Inca Trail closes in February although you can still visit Machu Picchu or do an alternative trek.

For those travelling to the Pantanal wetlands we recommend travel between May and September as this is the best time to see wildlife there. With respect to Patagonia, the weather is always unpredictable however it is best to travel in the summer months between October and April.

Flight prices from mid-November until February can be significantly more expensive so it's always worth considering travel outside of these dates.

HIGHLIGHTS & ACTIVITIES

It stands to reason travellers flock to South

America to see its incredible sites such as Machu Picchu, Iguazu Falls, the Galápagos Islands, Rio, Patagonia and the Amazon. While these remain our favourites, these destinations are just the tip of the iceberg, and we guarantee you'll be captivated by the breathtaking scenery of South America's lesser known destinations. Amongst others Angel Falls, the Pantanal, Colombia, and Uyuni are all destinations which seduce even the weariest of traveller. Throw in the volcanoes of Ecuador, the Lake District of Chile and Argentina and the wine regions of Cafayate and Mendoza and this continent really does have something for everyone.

South America offers an extraordinary array of unique wildlife particularly in Patagonia, the Amazon, the Galápagos Islands and Pantanal regions. Our tours give you the opportunity to encounter such iconic species as the giant tortoises of the Galápagos, pumas in Patagonia, jaguars in the Pantanal, pink dolphins in the Amazon, along with llamas and flamingos in the Atacama Desert.

South America is also a land of history, culture and culinary delights that are sure to leave you satisfied at every turn. Peru was recently named as the world's leading culinary destination and Lima is without doubt the food capital of South America. Rio de Janeiro and Buenos Aires also offer exceptional cuisine along with world-class entertainment and nightlife.

South America's rich history comes alive as you explore the mysteries of the Incan Empire, the influence of Spanish Conquistadors throughout the continent, the legendary gauchos of Argentina and Indian communities in the Amazon. For modern history we always recommend a visit to the cosmopolitan cities of Lima, Rio de Janeiro, Buenos Aires and Santiago. Choose from our range of fascinating trips to South America or contact us and we'll be happy to tailor the perfect itinerary to suit your requirements.

Ecuador

Ecuador may be the smallest Andean nation but it is packed with the most spectacular scenery.

Sitting on the equator between Colombia and Peru, Ecuador's contrast in scenery is enough to startle any traveller.

From the icy tops of Chimborazo, to the tropical forest of Yasuni National Park and everywhere in between, Ecuador is home to all forms of life.

The nature-minded, active traveller will feel right at home in Ecuador with an endless list of activities on offer such as hiking the volcanic peak of Cotopaxi, snorkelling with sea lions in the Galápagos and discovering brilliant photo opportunities in the pristine Amazon Basin. The cloud forests in the north are sure to astound with their exquisite birdwatching opportunities, some of the best in the world.

The quaint colonial cities of Cuenca and Quito provide the perfect settings to discover all there is about this wonderful country's history. Spread across an Andean Valley and surrounded by great volcanic peaks, Quito's surroundings are enough to take your breath away. Cobblestone streets, whitewashed buildings with red-tiled roofs and domed churches are just some of the features that have attracted tourists to Cuenca year after year.

QUITO & AVENUE OF THE VOLCANOES

Bolivia

Bolivia allows you to get off the main tourist path and explore the road less travelled.

Bolivia is a favourite destination of ours here at Eclipse Travel – it's a hidden gem which contains some of the most spectacular scenery on the entire continent.

Starting with one of the highest cities on the planet (approx. 4000m above sea level), La Paz has a vibrant bustling centre where you can visit such places as its intriguing Witches Market, where visitors can buy potions made from all sorts of secret ingredients to guard against evil spirits and cure illness.

Passing through the Bolivian side of Lake Titicaca is a must and best experienced by spending a night on mystical Isla del Sol where you can stay with traditional Andean communities and visit important Incan sites. Bolivia also contains large areas of the Amazon basin and offers abundant wildlife for the adventure seeker.

In the southern part of Bolivia you can discover the whitewashed streets of Sucre's colonial centre and search for silver in the mines of Potosi. Taking a journey across Bolivia's remarkable Salar de Uyuni into Argentina or Chile by 4WD trip is truly one of the world's top travel experiences.

This region is like another world and along with the famous salt flats you will visit red and green lagoons filled with flamingos as well as volcanoes and geysers.

Argentina

Argentina offers an experience unmatched anywhere in the world.

One of South America's jewels, Argentina has more must-see destinations than any other country in South America.

Located along the south-eastern coast of South America, Argentina is the eighth largest country in the world and is home to both the highest and lowest points in South America, resulting in some of the most spectacular natural sights South America has to offer.

The colourful and dynamic capital of Argentina, Buenos Aires delights everyone that visits and has constantly been named one of Latin America's hottest destinations. The combination of European architecture and the passion of its people makes Buenos Aires unlike any other city in the world.

The natural beauty surrounding the magnificent Iguazu Falls situated on the Brazilian border in the north, is one of those rare sights that has to be seen to be believed. Boasting more than 250 falls, they have been recognised as one of the world's most impressive natural wonders.

A trip to Argentina isn't complete without visiting Patagonia, on the Southern tip of the country, with Los Glaciares National Park and El Calafate, this is one of the most breathtaking areas you will ever visit and is sure to be the highlight of any trip.

Day 7: Cartagena departure

Venezuela

Venezuela is where the Andes meet the Caribbean and is home to many unique natural wonders.

Nowhere else will you find its combination of laid-back island beaches, Andean peaks, open plains teeming with abundant wildlife, and verdant rainforests.

Many people are drawn to Venezuela just to visit Angel Falls (the world's tallest single-drop waterfall); however, we recommend you delve far deeper. Destinations such as the Gran Sabana's table mountains, the vast savannahs of Los Llanos, the islands of Los Roques, and the Orinoco Delta are just a few of the remarkable destinations to visit.

With so much to offer, a holiday to Venezuela is sure to tempt any adventurer.

VENEZUELA CONTRASTS

Spend 9 days exploring the best of Venezuela with its waterfalls, pristine island beaches and diverse wildlife. We'll start with a brief stop in Caracas before heading south-east to Angel Falls, the world's highest single-drop waterfall, located in Canaima National Park

TOUR HIGHLIGHTS

- Angel Falls rates as one of the most spectacular sights in the world

Day 9: Los Roques National Park to Caracas

Uruguay

Increasingly popular for its amazing beaches, this stunning football-mad country is a hidden jewel.

Delicious food and wine, charm and culture are some of the ways to describe a trip to Uruguay. Easily accessible from Buenos Aires, a trip to Uruguay is definitely worthwhile. Starting at Colonia del Sacramento you'll fall in love with this antique and charming village. Life here moves at a very slow pace so you can enjoy strolling the streets, stopping for a coffee and afternoon tea while imagining you've gone back in time.

Montevideo, the capital, has some great attractions and restaurants. Spend a day learning about Uruguay's history and culture while on a city tour, then end the day with an unforgettable feast with some of the famous local wine and delicious meat. For a change of pace, Uruguay is also home to the beach resort of Punta del Este where many South Americans go for their summer holidays for some quality beach time and a party atmosphere.

URUGUAY EXPERIENCE

Visit the Uruguayan town of Colonia, a world apart from the hustle and bustle of Buenos Aires, before visiting Montevideo, the rich and vibrant Uruguayan port city which is both the capital, and home to almost half of Uruguay's total population

TOUR HIGHLIGHTS

- The old Portuguese colonial city of Colonia del Sacramento dates from the 17th century and has been designated as a UNESCO World Heritage City
- Montevideo is a vibrant, eclectic city with a captivating cultural scene, romantic neighbourhoods, and fascinating colonial architecture just waiting to be explored

ITINERARY

Day 1: Transfer from your hotel in Buenos Aires to catch the ferry to Colonia. Afternoon at leisure to explore

Day 2: Walking tour of Colonia before transfer to Montevideo

Day 3: Montevideo city tour

Tailor-made suggestions

- In summer you should consider visiting some of Uruguay's coastal regions from glamorous Punta del Este to laid-back Punta del Diablo
- Uruguay has some fantastic bird-watching lodges. Consult us on the range of options

Galápagos

The Galápagos Islands have some of the most diverse wildlife in the world and are a paradise for diving, bird watching and nature enthusiasts.

This remote archipelago is a wonder of lava formations, cactus forests, lush green highlands, turquoise bays and tropical beaches. However, the main attraction is, of course, the utterly unique range of wildlife found only here.

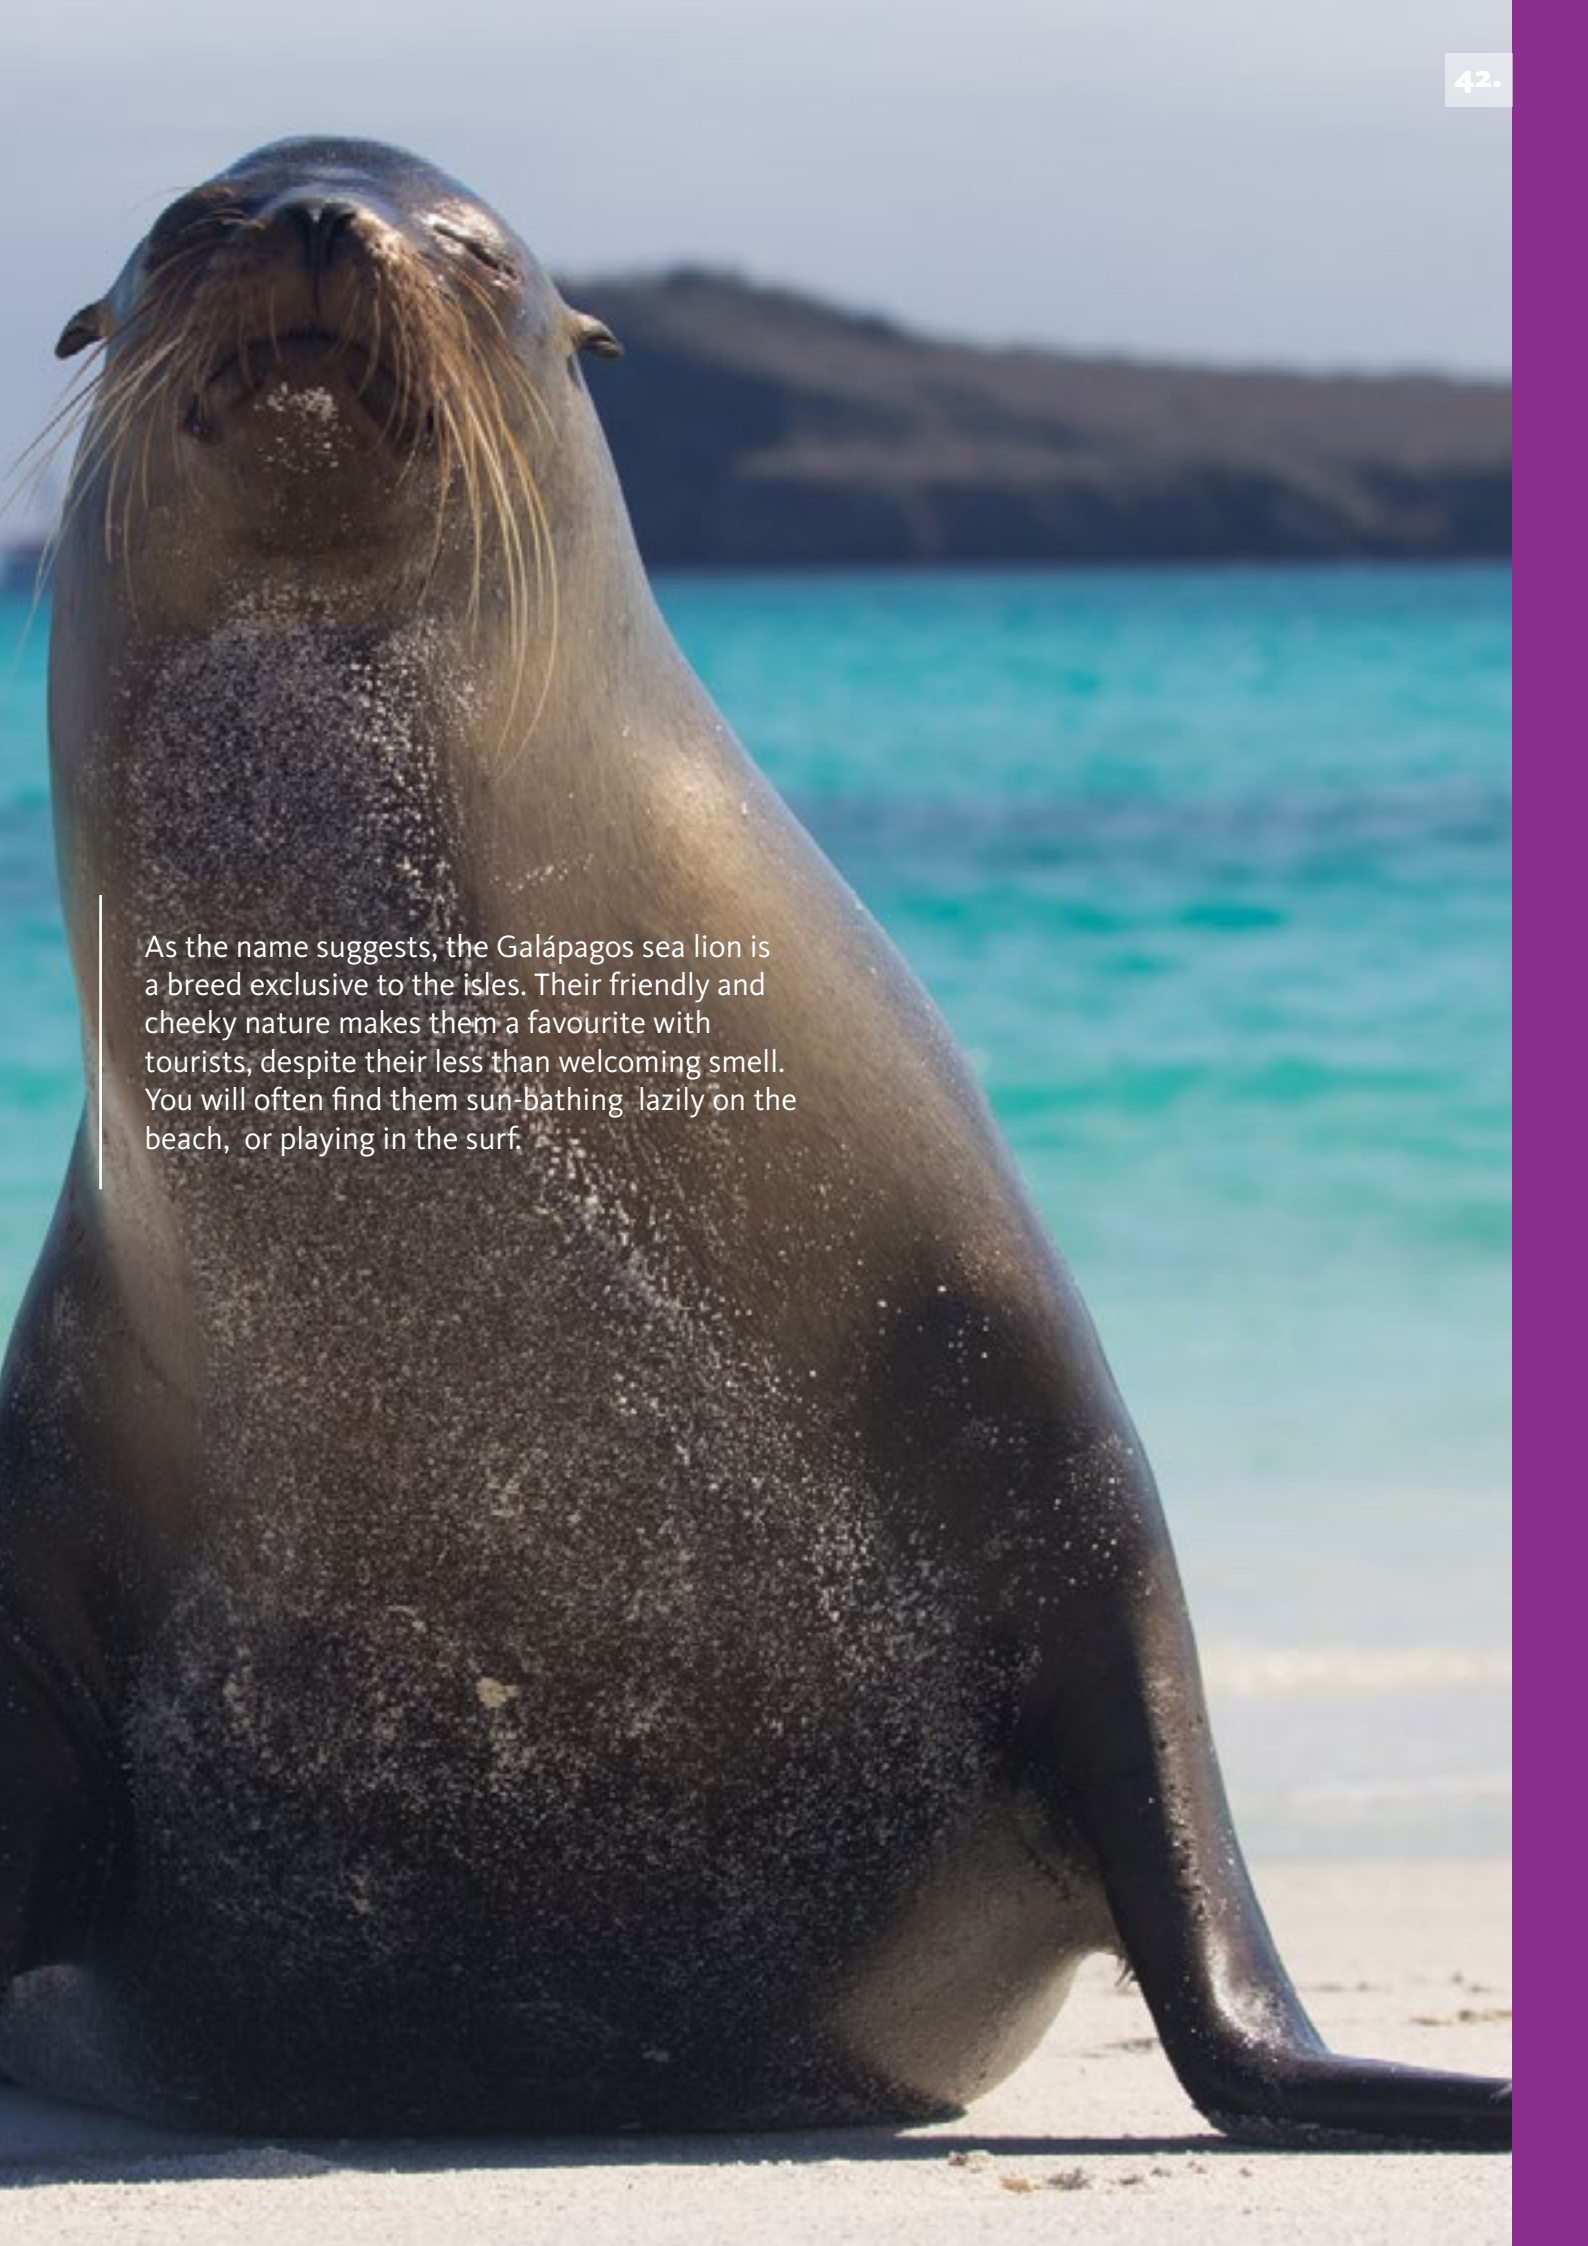

The Islands provided inspiration for Charles Darwin's theory of natural selection and what's truly special in the Galápagos Islands is that the animals have no natural fear of humans and allow us to approach them at close range.

Our small ship cruises and land-based experiences will give you the opportunity to watch giant Galápagos tortoises and Blue-Footed Boobies in the morning and snorkel with sea lions and marine iguanas in the afternoon.

WHEN TO VISIT

There is no good or bad time to visit, but the wet season generally occurs between December and May and you can expect sunny days and blue skies combined with showers, whereas the dry season (which runs from June to November) is generally cloudier and cooler.

Being located on the equator means that temperatures only vary slightly; however, water temperatures are typically at their lowest in the dry season. Most of the wildlife can be found year-round; however, there are a number of animals, particularly sea birds, that have specific breeding patterns. Whatever your particular interest, our specialists will be able to find the perfect option for you.

As the name suggests, the Galápagos sea lion is a breed exclusive to the isles. Their friendly and cheeky nature makes them a favourite with tourists, despite their less than welcoming smell. You will often find them sun-bathing lazily on the beach, or playing in the surf.

Central America & Cuba

Central America holds many hidden gems just waiting to be discovered.

Central America boasts diverse highlights ranging from majestic Mayan ruins through to pristine white sandy beaches, rich tropical rainforests and well-preserved colonial cities.

Central America is made up of Mexico, Cuba, Belize, Costa Rica, El Salvador, Guatemala, Honduras, Nicaragua and Panama and certainly has plenty to offer. As a standalone destination it can cater to any individual, whether you want to scale a volcano, or simply sit back relaxing on a beach while taking in a magnificent sunset over the Caribbean.

Whilst not technically in Central America, Cuba offers a fascinating side trip in this unique tropical wonderland with a rich historical past. Take a vintage car around Havana, live life like Ernest Hemingway, sip on cheap mojitos and learn to dance salsa – you won't be able to escape it!

Other attractions of Central America include the volcanoes in Lake Atitlán, the Cloud

Forests of Panama, the colourful markets of Chichicastenango and the biodiversity of Costa Rica, which will leave you speechless. With so much to choose from, the only problem you will have is choosing which ones to miss out.

WHEN TO VISIT

While Central America, Mexico and Cuba benefit from a pleasant tropical climate year round, the dry season is the most pleasant time to visit the region. The dry season runs from December to April and low season is typically May to October.

Other main considerations are that it can be very cold in areas of high elevation, which you will find in some areas of Costa Rica, Guatemala, Nicaragua and Mexico. Land along the Caribbean coast is susceptible to hurricanes between August and October. From June to early September there is the possibility of swimming with whale sharks around the Yucatán.

The ruins of Chichen Itza mark one of the largest Mayan cities. An estimated 1.2 million tourists visit each year, making Chichen Itza one of the most visited historical sites in Mexico.

Mexico

Land of temples, tacos and tequila, Mexico is a much-loved tourism favourite.

Mexico has a truly staggering amount to see and will astound you with its distinctive natural, cultural and historical highlights.

The sheer size of the population and land mass ensures a rich and divergent cultural experience with a blend of indigenous cultures and an undeniably strong Spanish influence.

Mexico offers outstanding Mayan and Aztec temples and ruins, spectacular white-sand beaches, grand colonial cities, and vast untouched natural beauty.

The favourable climate and its world-famous spicy cuisine are additional draw-cards to one of the world's most popular tourism destinations.

Surprisingly, Mexico is also one of the most biologically diverse countries in the world, with its wealth of ecosystems and species attracting thousands of tourists every year.

First-time travellers will be impressed by the landscapes and cultural sights that Mexico has to offer and for those returning there is always something new and exciting to experience or explore. We're certain you'll fall in love and be back for more!

Costa Rica

Costa Rica is a true nature-lover's paradise.

Stunning Costa Rica is world-renowned for its beautiful beaches both in the Pacific Ocean and the Caribbean Sea. Widely varied terrain allows travellers to do many different activities, ranging from exploring active volcanoes, cloud forests teeming with bird life, and tropical rainforests to relaxing on hot sandy beaches.

One of the main attractions is Costa Rica's impressive national parks and protected areas. With over 500,000 plant and animal species, Costa Rica is one of the planet's most biologically diverse countries. While the climate is tropical year-round, the country's rainiest months, termed the "green season," start in May and run until early December.

Escape the hustle of San Jose by soaking up the sensory experience of Costa Rica's national parks such as Tortuguero, Corcovado and Manuel Antonio.

COSTA RICA PANORAMA

A true nature lover's paradise, Costa Rica is known for its spectacular natural beauty. On this trip you'll view the best of its landscapes, from the pristine beaches and verdant rainforests to the volcanoes, mountains and cloud forests of Monteverde and Arenal.

Panama

Panama, with all its charm, is fast emerging as one of the world's most popular travel destinations.

Famous for its canal, Panama's ease of travel makes it an upcoming favourite with those who seek a diverse experience with minimal travel. Panama's rainy season usually falls between June and November, with rainfall much higher on the Pacific side of the country.

Panama City is one of the most attractive capital cities in all of Central America, and is a must visit.

The quaint cobbled streets and Spanish colonial architecture blend with modern architecture to form a lively atmosphere. With the Panama Canal close by, it has plenty on offer.

Add time to experience Bocas del Toro and the San Blas Islands in the Caribbean, and the Pearl Islands in the Pacific, amongst the hundreds of Panama's wonderful islands.

PANAMA CITY ESSENTIALS

This trip will introduce you to the best attractions around Panama City, Panama's capital and largest city. Visit the Embera Indians, the Panama Canal and take a journey through Casco Viejo, the colonial quarter of Panama City

TOUR HIGHLIGHTS

- Explore the eclectic streets of Panama City

Nicaragua

Offering pristine rainforests, tropical beaches, towering volcanoes and Spanish colonial towns.

In the wake of the 1980's revolution Nicaragua now opens its arms to tourism and enjoys the lowest crime rate in Central America and some of the friendliest people you are ever likely to meet.

Travellers to Nicaragua love exploring its highland cities of Granada and Leon which offer classic Spanish architecture, art and culture. Other attractions include peaceful Ometepe Island, with its twin volcanic peaks rising from Lake Nicaragua, the tropical rainforests of Rio San Juan and the relaxed beaches of San Juan del Sur.

Nicaragua's dry season is typically between December and April, while July and August are often the wettest months. If you are looking for something a little different, Nicaragua is a country with as much to offer as any country in South and Central America.

NICARAGUA EXPLORER

As the largest country in Central America, Nicaragua has plenty to offer. From the rich history and culture that are present in Granada City to the impressive Masaya Volcano, this 6-day tour is sure to exceed all your expectations about this beautiful country

TOUR HIGHLIGHTS

- Granada, with its lakeside setting and wonderful colonial architecture

Antarctica

With a landscape that almost defies description, a journey to Antarctica is simply life-changing.

Travellers are invited to join us on a small ship expedition cruise as we explore the planet's most remote continent with its unspoilt, awe-inspiring scenery and incredible wildlife encounters.

Antarctica is the fifth largest, coldest and driest continent on Earth. Not only are travellers given the opportunity to observe the abundance of wildlife it has to offer from the comfort of their expedition vessel, but also to gain inspirational insights from a dedicated and knowledgeable crew.

Many consider Antarctica as the last frontier, and few get to experience its marvels. Travel to the end of the earth and explore the vast wilderness of the great white continent on one of our many incredible Antarctic expeditions.

WHEN TO VISIT

Cruises operate to Antarctica between late October and the end of March. Over this time temperatures during the day generally range between -6C to +4C; however, wind chill must be taken into consideration as it can result in much colder conditions.

November to early December:

During this period Antarctica is at its most pristine and wildlife is not plentiful, as whales are only starting to arrive. However, it is a good time to observe the penguins mating and towards the end of November, the nests are full of eggs which may start to hatch.

Mid December to January:

At this time you can expect around 20 hours of daylight and the warmest weather conditions. Wildlife is at its peak, as the whales are arriving in large numbers and the penguin chicks are hatching. Also, declining pack ice may provide new pathways for exploration.

February to March:

This is the time when the Antarctica sunrises and sunsets create the most stunning and beautiful experiences and photo opportunities. It is also a great time to go whale-watching and observe the penguin chicks as they become more active and predator activity is more common.

The King Penguin photographed here on South Georgia is a stunning specimen. Here you will find thousands of them waiting for you on the shore for your arrival.

WHAT TO WEAR

The key to travel in Antarctica is to be prepared for all conditions as these can change from one minute to the next. We suggest dressing in layers so you can easily adapt to the conditions. Essential clothing includes waterproof trousers and jackets, beanie hat, gloves, thermal underwear, thick socks and sunglasses.

ACTIVITIES

Most cruises aim for two zodiac or shore excursions per day. In between destinations and while cruising at sea, travellers can relax in the bar or educate themselves on a specific area of interest through the lectures given by on-board professionals. Then, later at night, entertainment is often provided by the cruise staff. On many cruises you will have the opportunity to participate in an extensive choice of optional adventure activities that include sea kayaking, camping on ice, hiking, snowshoeing, stand-up paddle boarding, diving and full-day photographic excursions with a professional photographer.

WILDLIFE

Antarctica has an abundance of wildlife which must be seen to be believed. Penguins, seals and whales are typically the main attraction for people taking an Antarctica cruise along with the millions of seabirds which breed along the coast and offshore islands of Antarctica.

You'll commonly see large numbers of Gentoo, Adelie and Chinstrap Penguins and depending on your cruise you can come across Macaroni, King, Royal and even Emperor Penguins. Weddell, Leopard, Fur and Elephant Seals are typically seen on an expeditions cruise and Orcas, Minke, Humpback and Blue Whales are the most common whales you are likely to see.

Antarctica

CHOOSING A CRUISE

There are several different lengths of cruises available and each offers a different experience. In general, types of cruises can be divided into the following categories:

Classic Antarctic Cruises

10 to 12 day cruises from Ushuaia, Argentina to the western side of the Antarctic Peninsula. Visit locations such as Deception Island, La Mar Channel and Paradise Bay which offer the perfect introduction to Antarctica. On the Antarctica Peninsula you will see plenty of Gentoo, Adelie and Chinstrap penguins.

Antarctic Polar Circle Cruises

12 to 14 day cruises are an extension of the Classic Antarctic cruises, with the main advantage being a few extra days experiencing Antarctica and the satisfaction of crossing the Antarctic Circle. Wildlife seen will be similar to the Classic Antarctic cruises.

Weddell Sea Cruises

These cruises are usually 12 to 14 days in length and visit both the western and eastern sides of the peninsula. The main attraction of the Weddell Sea is the enormous Adelie penguin rookeries as well as the chance of seeing an elusive Emperor penguin. Another main attraction here are the huge tabular icebergs.

Falklands, South Georgia & Antarctic Peninsula Cruises

These 18 to 20 day itineraries are the pinnacle of Antarctica cruises departing from South America. They offer the advantage of covering the Antarctic Peninsula, along with the Sub-Antarctic islands, the Falkland Islands, and South Georgia. On the Falklands and South Georgia you'll follow in the steps of famous explorers and see awe-inspiring scenery along with an astonishing concentration of wildlife; in particular, the huge numbers of king penguins, albatross and elephant seals.

Fly Cruises

These cruises offer you the opportunity to fly to King George Island or the Falkland Islands from Chile (Santiago or Punta Arenas), thereby avoiding a lengthy trip and possible sea-sickness. Some operators offer flights in only one direction and others offer return flights as an option.

The Ross Sea & East Antarctica Cruises from Australia and New Zealand

Cruises from Australia and New Zealand are much longer in duration (between 19-30 days) and can be very expensive. A cruise to the Ross Sea region is a true exploration to some of the most remote regions of the earth and only a few hundred people are able to visit each year. Wildlife is abundant and it is in this region that the relics of the 'heroic period' of Antarctic exploration can be seen and experienced.

Popular Itineraries

With a landscape that almost defies description, a cruise to Antarctica is simply life-changing.

On any cruise to Antarctica you can expect to experience a wide variety of landscapes, unprecedented wildlife viewing opportunities and a healthy mix of historic landing sites. Be astounded by the sensory overload of the huge amount of ice-bergs, glaciers, high mountains and the abundant and tame wildlife.

The following collection of itineraries gives you an insight into the types of cruises on offer but it is by no means an exhaustive list as ships are constantly changing their itineraries. Please feel free to contact us with your requirements and we will be happy to help you select the most appropriate cruise for your budget, dates and desires.

Our website is continually being updated with new and original tour packages.

Now that you have had a small taste of what we have to offer, please feel free to visit our website for our extensive range of tours and destinations.

At Eclipse Travel we are constantly looking to add to and improve our services, and a large part of that is the diversity and the quality of our tour packages. We pride ourselves on providing the best itineraries possible, striving to make sure we have a perfect blend of relaxation and adventure.

But the tours on the website are just the starting point. We can mix and match tours, or design a custom trip to suit your exact needs. We look after every detail. All you need to do is turn up with your passport, and we will handle the rest.

TESTIMONIALS

Ken Doull ★★★★★

Had a wonderful trip, not a single problem. Accommodation, flights guides were all so well organised. Could not fault any aspect of the holiday. Would highly recommend Eclipse Travel.

Maria Carberry ★★★★★

Eclipse Travel gave me a once in a lifetime chance to celebrate a milestone (60th birthday) with my husband around South America, a place with so much to offer at an affordable price with all the exciting memories to always linger. Highlight is celebrating my birthday with the community of Favela Cantagalo in Rio arranged by Eclipse Travel. What an experience that is...giving and sharing and having fun with them. Eclipse Travel did not only arrange all our tours and hotels and my birthday party with Favela Cantagalo but also donated cash to the Favela. What a giving and inspiring mob...hope they branch out their travels to other continents and places of the world and not just South America. Couldn't fault them with the tours and hotels too...spot on Eclipse Travel...more power...may your tribe increase.

Narelle Eagles ★★★★★

Eclipse Travel organised our trip to Sth America and the Antarctic. We have travelled with other agencies before, however this trip was beautifully organised. Best trip ever!
